MRS. MARGARET DAVIS HAYES PRESENTED WITH A HANDSOME SILVER SET.

Jackson, June 4.—A committee of the Ladies Confederate Monument Association visited Mrs. Hayes and escorted her to the depot on her departure this afternoon for her home in Colorado. Before leaving the Governor's Mansion the association presented to her a silver tea set of six pieces, through the generosity of Mrs. Hayes. The inscription thereon is as follows: "Mrs. Margaret Davis Hayes, from the Ladies Confederate Monument Association, Jackson, Miss., June 3, 1891."

In presenting the service, Gov. Lowry said: "Mrs. Hayes—I have been commissioned by the ladies of the Confederate Monument Association to present to you this beautiful silver service. This distinction and honor I appreciate, as it affords me another opportunity to give assurance to the eldest daughter of our great chief of the affection they bear for his children. Our Mississippi women are true descendants of the matrons of the first revolution and are full of patriotism as he shown by the demonstration of yesterday. We claim you as ours, and we, especially do we look forward to growth and development of your splendid little boy, Jeff Hayes Davis. If we could read the hearts of the Confederate veterans and the sons of the veterans that assembled on yesterday on the anniversary of the birth of your honored father we would learn that many thousand invocations went up to the great Master of the universe that your handsome little boy will grow up with the intellect, principles and characteristics of his gifted and peerless grandfather."

"We are delighted that your good husband came with you, and trust that your reception by the people of the State was of such a character as to induce from you more frequent visits. More than forty years ago I saw a large assemblage in this city, gathered to pay honor to your distinguished father, who had returned from foreign field covered with honors. With years the affections of those he represented and defended increased. On your departure from Mississippi this evening the ladies of this city would have you carry to your distant home this beautiful souvenir that will serve as a gentle reminder that President Davis' eldest daughter has a warm place in the hearts of all people of her father's State."

In reply, Mrs. Hayes said: "Gov. Lowry, Ladies and gentlemen: "I am indeed gratified at this handsome testimonial and evidence of your esteem and love. It is needless to say that I appreciate your kindly offering beyond the power of words to express. I fully realize that I am, indeed a Mississippian, and some of the brightest recollections of my life and of days spent upon my soil. My heart is too full to say any more. I beg that you will accept my sincerest thanks for the testimonial you have presented."

After the presentation, the entire party accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hayes to the 520 I. train, and wished them a safe journey to New York, where they are called by the illness of Mrs. Davis, and a happy return to their Colorado home.
